Activity Memo Quick Guide

From the Head of Department, through the Office of the CEO, to the CEO's decision

Our example. Anthony Lagat, Head of ICT, needs four officers to spend four days (23 to 26 November 2026) fixing the network at the seven constituency offices in Kisumu County. He prepares the memo, Christine Mwangolo (Assistant Chief of Staff) reviews it, and Benjamin Magut (CEO) decides.

Step 1. Start the memo and write the narration

1. Sign in and open Activity memos on the left, then press Create new activity memo.
2. Fill in the title, category, purpose and dates. In Introduction and justification write the story: the background, why the activity is needed now, and any letter or Act it answers. Add Key risks to be mitigated.
3. Need something the standard memo does not cover, such as a programme of the visit? Press Add a section under More memo sections and give it a heading and text.
4. Choose the county and venue, and the Budget line the cost will be charged to. Press Save draft. Nobody outside your department can see a draft.

The memo form. What you type here becomes sections 1.0 to 4.0 of the memo the system writes for you.

Step 2. Choose the team; the budget builds itself

1. On the memo page press Team and costs, then Add officers. Tick the officers and press Add to team.
2. Allowances (DSA) are worked out for you from each officer's grade, the county and the nights away. Add other costs such as fuel or materials with Add cost line.
3. If an officer is already on another approved activity on those days, the system says so and will not let you tick them. Choose someone else, or ask the Office of the CEO to release them first.

Henry is on another approved activity from 22 to 26 November, so he cannot be added. He becomes free the day after.

Step 3. Preview the memo and its annexes

1. Back on the memo page, press Preview memo. The system writes the full memo in the Board's format with three annexes, each on its own page:
   · Annex A budget breakdown, by cost item and by department
   · Annex B detailed budget, with scale, pax, days and rates
   · Annex C participant itinerary, with each officer's dates
2. Check that the names, dates and totals are right. The total in the memo is always the same as in Annexes A and B.
3. The box above the memo lists anything missing. Red items must be done before you can submit; amber items are advice, for example when your own estimate differs from the costed budget.

> You no longer need to print, sign and upload a memo. The generated memo is the memo. You can still attach supporting papers, such as an invitation letter.

Step 5. What the Chief of Staff or Assistant does

1. The reviewer gets an alert, opens the memo from Activity memos and reads it with Memo and annexes.
2. If it is complete, they press Forward to CEO, with a recommendation and a comment if they wish. Forwarding is not an approval.
3. If something must change, they press Return for correction and say what to fix.

> When a memo comes back to you. It appears under Returned for correction with the reviewer's note in orange. Make the changes, preview again, then press Resubmit for review. It goes back to the same reviewer.

Forwarding to the CEO, with an optional recommendation.

Step 6. The CEO reviews the memo and the budget position

1. The CEO opens the Decision queue and presses Memo and annexes to read the memo, itinerary, detailed budget and budget breakdown.
2. Opening the memo and pressing Approve and authorise shows the department's position for the year: the allocation, what is already spent (from Finance returns), what is committed to approved activities, the available balance, and the balance if approved.
3. If approving would take the department over its allocation, a red warning says by how much.
4. The CEO then presses Approve and authorise, or chooses Decline or Return, which need a comment.

> Pending memos are shown but never deducted. Committed money is not counted as spent until Finance's actual figure is recorded.

Step 7. The whole Board's budget position

Under Department costs, the Budget position tab shows every department for the chosen financial year. Pick a department to see its approved activities, pending requests and any money released by cancellations. Excel and PDF export the same figures.

Step 8. Following up as Head of Department

Your Activity memos board shows each memo by stage: Drafts, Returned for correction, Awaiting review and decision, Approved and authorised and Declined. Each line says who has the memo and the next step, and the bell at the top alerts you when it moves. Open an approved memo and press Preview memo to download the signed-off memo with its annexes.

If an officer is recalled during the activity, the Office of the CEO records it on the memo's Team tab. The officer is free from the next day, and the system shows the saving on their allowance before it is confirmed.
